

INTERJET CELEBRATES 13 YEARS OF SERVICE CONNECTING MEXICO TO THE WORLD

Airline has expanded from three aircraft serving four markets to operating 85 aircraft flying to 53 destinations in the U.S., Canada, Mexico, Central and South America.

Interjet Airlines celebrates today 13 years of service flying leisure and business passengers to both domestic and international destinations. Following its launch in 2005, Interjet has become one of the fastest growing carriers in North America flying more than 89 million passengers on its international and Mexico routes.

“In a very short period of time, Interjet Airlines has exceeded all expectations, to rise from our humble beginnings to become one of Mexico’s leading and most admired airlines,” said José Luis Garza, CEO of Interjet. “And we continue to make great progress for the future. In October, we joined the Latin America and Caribbean Air Transport Association (ALTA), which includes more than 35 other airlines dedicated to strengthening cooperation and communications between the region’s airlines to benefit air transportation throughout LATAM and the Caribbean. Just recently, we announced a long-term partnership agreement with Travelport, a leading provider of distribution, technology, payment and other solutions for the $7 trillion global travel and tourism industry,” he added.

“I am also very proud of what Interjet has achieved these past 13 years,” added Julio Gamero, Interjet’s Chief Commercial Officer. “As we look towards 2019, Interjet will continue to expand its international service flying to new countries and new markets and continue to offer our unique brand of lower fares with free checked bags, more legroom between seats and our great service that has been embraced everywhere we fly,” Gamero added.
